Archie's Biography As a junior rider on the East Coast, Archie was already competing on the national level; in 1985 he was the first male rider in ten years to win the United States Equestrian Team Gold Medal. He also was earning ribbons at the AHSA Medal and ASPCA Maclay finals. Riding for the equestrian team at New Jersey's Drew University, he repeatedly captured individual and team regional and national Intercollegiate Horse Show Associate titles. In the spring of 1992, he worked for the next several years with top trainer Karen Healey. In December 2000, he opened his own business, Brookway Stables at Middle Ranch in Lakeview Terrace. There he typically has thirty to thirty-five horses in training and twelve to fifteen students/clients, from pony riders to older amateurs. Archie says he is very fortunate to have students who have won the junior and senior Pacific Coast Medal Finals and California Professional Horseman's Association Medal Finals. Brookway horses have been Champion or Reserve at Devon, Harrisburg, Washington, the Metropolitan National Horse Show, and the National Horse Show in West Palm Beach. He's worked with seven USEF national champions, and one of his students won the 2003 ASPCA Maclay Finals.
